

Charlotte's Leaving Speech

Good afternoon,

During my short time here, I have fallen in love with Japan, Toyama and this school. There are many things I will miss, including omotenashi, the mountains and of course, you, the Chubu students.

I have some final messages I want to give you. First, I want you to know that you have already succeeded because you are a student at this school. Remember you are not a robot or a machine. You are a human. Humans make mistakes, humans are not perfect and humans cannot be good at everything. Each person has different natural skills. Also, remember that you might fail before you succeed. Many famous people failed first before being successful, including Steve Jobs and J.K. Rowling.

Second, I want you to be kind to yourself. Taking a rest is good for your heart and your mind. To be your most productive, you must rest.

Finally, I want you to know that success isn't only your job and your money. Success is also human relationships. It is your family, your friends and the experiences you share with others.

I hope you can enjoy studying English. You can use your English skills to become part of an international community. It is exciting and interesting to meet people from all over the world.

In the future, I will think about the discipline of Chubu students and it will help me to succeed. Remember to thank your teachers who work so hard to help you. They are real people too and also become tired!

Thank you for being such amazing students to teach. Please email me anytime. I really wish you all the success in the future.

先生方には、温かく迎えて下さり、またいろいろと助けてくださり、とても感謝しています。日本で過ごしたこの1年を、私は一生忘れません。

本当にありがとうございました。またお会いしましょう。
